

LESTER MILBANK (S68-73)

After leaving the College he read English & Drama at Bristol University.

He joined the BBC as a Radio Presenter/Producer working for ten local radio stations, and Radios 4 and 5. In 1993 he won the coveted Sony Gold Documentary of the Year. He is particularly known for the sensitivity of his observational documentary work.

He set up Cambridge Film and TV Productions (CFTP) in 1991, and has since nurtured it into a successful company – see their website at <http://www.cftp.co.uk/> It is a rapidly expanding independent production company based just outside Cambridge, with a highly energetic skilled team, full production facilities and two air conditioned Media 100 digital edit suites. It is known throughout the Eastern region as a respected, professional, innovative and, above all, friendly team.

They offer a complete service, including Outside Broadcast facilities, from conception and creation through scriptwriting, editing in their 3 digital suites and shooting to duplication, translation, CD/DVD authoring and distribution. Their clients have included NTL, Barclays Bank, Financial Times, Microsoft, NHS, ARM and many others. Subject matters have included Team Management, The Euro, Effective Communication, Corporate Change and Product Launches.
