

ANTHONY ROSEN (S40-48)

This is a brief summary of Anthony's life prior to the writing of an obituary by James Ruddock-Broyd

He was born on 19 December 1930 and died on 22 March 2007.

After attending the College he went to Brighton Technical College before serving in the Royal Artillery as a Captain (Air OP Pilot). He then attended East Sussex School of Agriculture Advanced Farm Business Management Course, Wye 1974 Henley Business School Management Course

Past positions:

1956-64 Farms Manager, 640 acres West Sussex

Managing tenant partner, 1700 acres, West Sussex

Founder MD Agricultural Management Limited 1968-71

Strategic Consultant, Technion, Haifa, Israel

Founder MD, Fountain Farming Limited, 30,000 ac

Founder MD, Sherkate Sahami Landkesht, Iran 6,500 ac

Strategic Consultant, Agricultural Management Ltd

Consultant, Feenix International Pty, Australia 1980-90

Vice-President, Western Agricultural Management, USA Tenant/partner, 3,000 acres (ex-FF)

Managing partner, 360 acres Director, Agricultural Management Limited 1985-90

Partner, Second Opinion Associates

Chairman, Earnison Holdings plc

Consultant, Mashonaland Foundation, Zimbabwe

Consultant, Tasman Agriculture Limited, New Zealand

Consultant, Tata Exports, India 1993

Consultant, Strategic Agricultural Plan for Algeria 1993

Consultant, Strategic Agricultural Plan for Nigeria 1994

Consultant, Maharashtra State Marketing Board, India 1993-95

Consultant, Romanian Agricultural Privatisation Project 1995

Consultant, Estonia Consultant, Poland 1983-2001

Political and Economic Columnist, Farming News 1988-2003

Strategic Agribusiness Consultant to Howard Paterson NZ 2000-2003

Strategic Consultant, A2 Milk Corporation NZ 2001-2003

European Director, The Otago Trust NZ

Present:

1980-Chief executive (and owner) Feenix Farming, International Agribusiness

Consultant Positions: 1984-Anthony Rosen Travel (sole owner since 1997)

Just before his death he published his autobiography entitled "An Unordinary Life - Memoirs of Anthony Rosen"

A review by Derek Barber (Lord Barber of Tewkesbury) said:

"If all of us who lived within the farming industry in the second half of the twentieth century had been asked to nominate the most colourful, John Buchanesque character in our midst, who could it be other than Anthony Rosen? Farmer, but also army pilot, ocean racer, farming innovator, chairman and board member - and agent provocateur when necessary - of our agricultural institutions, as well as land companies from Britain to California and, notably, to New Zealand. An advisor to many governments including Iran and Algeria, while finding time to be a professional journalist - he is a brilliant stitcher of words - and latterly as leader of farmers' groups to see the world.... Personal memoirs can be a trifle heavy-on-the-wing. Not so here. This is a 'thumping good read'".

An UnOrdinary Life

Hobbies: Work, photography and travel (visited 106 countries) Extra mural: 1958- Life member of